Oklahoma City, Aug. 11, 2011 -- Murder is on the menu in "The American Café," the second installment in the Sadie Walela series by Sara Sue Hoklotubbe. The Cherokee author will sign copies and give a reading of her latest murder mystery at 2 pm Sunday, Aug. 28, at Full Circle Bookstore in Oklahoma City.

Set in the Cherokee country of northeastern Oklahoma where Hoklotubbe grew up, "The American Café" is the story of a blue-eyed Cherokee woman who sets out to fulfill a lifelong dream of owning a restaurant and ends up unraveling a multilayered mystery of denial, deceit and murder. Sadie draws on the intuition and perseverance of her Cherokee ancestry as she delves into the mysterious slaying of the restaurant's previous owner.

The series gives readers a view into Native American culture in small-town Oklahoma and the real lives of contemporary American Indians. "Deception on All Accounts," the first novel in the series, earned Hoklotubbe the Writer of the Year award by Wordcraft Circle of Native Writers and Storytellers.

She and her husband reside in Oklahoma and Colorado.

Full Circle Bookstore is located on the first level of 50 Penn Place.
